

A Meeting to Remember

Seema Jerajani's first person account of her memorable experience of having the iconic Toni Mascolo of TONI & GUY in her own salon.

I was at Salon International last October and had watched the TONI&GUY team launch their Kaizen Collection. Little did I know then, that in future I would have the opportunity to interact with Mr. Toni Mascolo himself!

It was great to know that TONI&GUY show was to be held in Mumbai for the launch of their Label M products, but the icing on the cake was that Toni himself was going to come to India for the first time.

If you believe that dreams come true, then this was one of them for me.

Every hairdresser aspires to study at one of the best Hairdressing academies in the world such as TONI&GUY - an international brand synonymous with fashion, quality, and innovation. And here I was, involved with not only the prep work but also working along side the creative artistic team of TONI&GUY for their fashion show.

Seema Jerajani with Toni Mascolo

The hair cuts were inspiring. The hair colour on the models hair and human hair weft were sensational. The editorial looks were displaying creativity, diversity and originality with incredible avant-garde styles.

At Fusions, the prep work was carried out for two days prior to the show and it was a once in a lifetime chance for me to have Toni Mascolo himself visit my salon. He was highly encouraging and appreciated the fact that although Fusions was a multi brand salon, it reflected individuality and was not dependant on any brand for moving ahead in the business. His advice was that one should not give up one's dreams and should believe in them and then work towards achieving them. Secondly, it is important to continue learning and then be able to adapt it in the culture that we live in.

I had an opportunity to speak to him on a couple of occasions after his visit to Fusions and it was very inspiring and encouraging and helped me strengthen my belief in my dream of becoming an Ace educator in our Hairdressing Industry.

“ IF YOU BELIEVE THAT DREAMS COME TRUE, THEN THIS WAS ONE OF THEM ”

